

Content / Description / "The Block"

The exposition area. It's about words. Mostly. Usually. I guess it doesn't have to be. The content area can be styled as any other box element in regard to margins, padding, borders, etc.

Supports Markdown and HTML as input.
